McGILL COMPUTER SCIENCE UNDERGRADUATE SOCIETY CONSTITUTION

McGill CSUS, 2014

The Computer Science Undergraduate Society (CSUS) is only a legal body within the compound of McGill University. This organization is strictly a student organization and student interest group. CSUS is a non-profit organization and receives funding based on a formula as described in the Science Undergraduate Society (SUS) and the Student Society of McGill University (SSMU). CSUS may receive external funding and is free to independently administer this funding.

1 The Society

1.1 Name

In English, the society is “the Computer Science Undergraduate Society of McGill University,” and in French it is “L’Association des Etudiants et Etudiantes en Informatique de L’Universite McGill”. These will be referred to as CSUS and AEIM respectively throughout this document.

1.2 Membership

CSUS’ membership is all students registered in an Undergraduate programme in the School of Computer Science at McGill University, given payment of fees prescribed in Article 4. Any student registered in a Computer Science Major or Computer Science Honours programme is considered a member. Students may be granted membership by the Executive Council subject to Article 4 (payment).

1.3 Purpose

The primary purpose of CSUS is to protect the academic rights and interests of its constituency. Other duties of CSUS is to represent and promote the views of its members and to implement academic, educational, cultural, social and other programmes of interest to its members.

1.4 Society Fees

The fees for CSUS will be determined by the Science Undergraduate Society of McGill University (Hereafter referred to as SUS). Additional fees specific to CSUS may be added by referendum.

1.5 Rights, Privileges and Obligations of Members

The privileges of the members include making use of CSUS facilities and services, taking part in all CSUS politicking, academic, and entertainment events, and participating in the organisation of any politicking, academics, and events. It is an obligation of all CSUS members to conform to CSUS Constitution, regulations and bylaws. No member is empowered to act as an agent of CSUS unless permission to so act has been granted by the Executive Council of CSUS.
